

Gursahib's Superpower
By:Navreen Kaur Minhas

Once upon a time, there was a boy named Gursahib. He lived in a Sikh family with his older sister Gurbani and his parents. He didn't do well in his studies and needed a lot of help with his homework. But the thing that troubled his parents the most was that he did not meditate. Whenever his parents asked him to meditate, he'd just say, "I'll do it after I finish what I'm doing".

But he'd forget later on.

One day, while Gursahib and Gurbani were waiting for the school bus to arrive, their parents were having a talk.

Mom-"Oh dear. Gursahib won't meditate no matter what we say to him."
Dad-"I agree. This is a problem. It might also affect him in the future."
Gurbani- "If you let me talk to him, I might be able to ..."
Mom (Interrupted Gurbani) -"It is very sweet of you to help but, we've tried almost everything we could. It's almost impossible to get him to meditate."
Gurbani-"Mom, please let me try! After all, you have tried 'almost' everything."
Mom-"Okay sweetie! You can try."

After the bus dropped off Gursahib, he went to his room and saw Gurbani sitting on his bed. She said in a soft voice.

Gurbani-"Gursahib, we need to talk."
Gursahib-"After my homework."
Gurbani-"Not after your homework, we need to talk right now!"
Gursahib-"About what?"
Gurbani-"About you meditating. If you don't, you won't get the prize."
Gursahib-"Prize!!!! What prize?"
Gurbani-"You get your own superpower." [whisper]
Gursahib-"What power will I get!?"
Gurbani-"That is for you to find out."

Gursahib fell silent. The next day, it was early morning, when Gurbani was going to the kitchen to get a glass of water she heard a small whisper coming from Gursahib's room. She decided to take a little peek into his room. When she did, she saw Gursahib meditating. She was very happy to see this coming from him. Soon it became the first thing he did every morning. He continued this for some time and one day, he went up to Gurbani and said,

Gursahib-"I got the superpower you said I would get".

She let out a soft chuckle .

Gurbani-"And what power is that?"

Gursahib-"The power of feeling waheguru in me and everywhere."

Sometimes the greatest gifts don't always come from boxes or from the store. Some of them are inside you. You just have to realize them and let them out.

The only way to do that, is to meditate and chant the Naam.

Waheguru Ji Ka Khalsa

Waheguru Ji Ki Fateh!
