

har jan simrahu hirdai raam

j ʘsrl mhl ॥ 5] (702-13)	jaiṡsaree mehlaa 5.	Jaitsree, Fifth Mehl:
hir j n ismrhu i hrdY rwm]	har jan simrahu hirdai raam.	O humble servants of the Lord, remember the Lord in meditation within your heart.
hir j n kau Apd ॥ inkit n AuvY pʘn dws ky kwm]1] rhwaU]	har jan ka-o apḁaa nikat na aavai pooran ḁaas kay kaam. 1 rahaa-o.	Misfortune does not even approach the Lord's humble servant; the works of His slave are perfectly fulfilled. 1 Pause kit ibGn ibnsih hir syw inhcl u givd Dwm]	kot bighan binsahi har sayvaa nihchal govid Dhaam.	Millions of obstacles are removed, by serving the Lord, and one enters into the eternal dwelling of the Lord of the Universe.
Bgvʘq Bgq kau BauikCu nwhl Awdru dyq j wm]1]	bhagvant bhagat ka-o bha-o kichh naahee aadar ḁayvat jaam. 1	The Lord's devotee is very fortunate; he has absolutely no fear. Even the Messenger of Death pays homage to him. 1 qij gpwʘl Awn j o krxl sel sel ibnsq Kwm]	taj gopaal aan jo karnee so-ee so- ee binsat khaam.	Forsaking the Lord of the world, he does other deeds, but these are temporary and transitory.
crn kml i hrdY ghunink sK smʘh ibsrwm]2]9]13]	charan kamal hirdai gahu naanak sukh samooh bisraam. 2 9 13	Grasp the Lord's lotus feet, and hold them in your heart, O Nanak; you shall obtain absolute peace and bliss. 2 9 13